Kentucky Geological Survey Frankfort, Kentucky and Feb. 16, 1881 Bureau of Immigration. John R. Procter, Director. Dear Sir: Yours of the 15th recd. I do not know the present conditions of the German Colony in Western Kentucky, nor do I know whether any of them have yet arrived. The parties organizing this are in New York City. The lands secured are near Crofton in Christian Co. I will in a few days be furnished with particulars. If the young man you write of has ample means he would do better to purchase lands not in a colony, but make a good selection & if he desires form a colony himself. If he desires to go to western Kentucky I think a position on Green River in Edmonson or Butler County would be desirable. Lands well timbered with white oak poplar and hickory could be purchased at/from $250 to 400 per acre, and the soil is excellent for [coal measure rocks], and Green River is always navigable. He would also find a good location on the extension of the Knoxville road - beyond the Swiss Colony. I have learned of 5000 acres south of London
